WEAVER'S GUILD WORKSHOP Music Department

LEFT TO RIGHT: Mrs. Roger Jenkins of Omaha, Wischmeier, wearing a suit woven by herself; a member of both the Omaha and Lincoln Weavers' Guilds; Mrs. S. M. Lybber, the Rev. A. C. and Mrs. E. F. Bechtold.

A two-harness workshop, which began at 1 o'clock on Saturday afternoon and continued until 9 o'clock in the evening, and which was held at the home of Mrs. Glenn Clemans, replaced the January meeting of the Lincoln Weavers' Guild. Weavers were expected, replete with looms, from various sections of the state, but due to weather conditions, many of them did not arrive. However, talks on the use of two-harness looms, demonstrations, and an exhibit of articles made on these looms, made the workshop an exceedingly interesting one. It would seem, for the benefit of the layman, that there is a vast difference in looms—There is the two-harness variety, and also the four-harness loom. Materials woven on the two-harness loom depends on contrast of colors of yarns to give the resulting weave its pattern. When using the larger and more complicated four-harness loom, the thread for a distinctive pattern can be set right on the loom. The exhibit included lacy scarves in open-work patterns, bags, table mats, finger towels, samplers—with the initial of the worker woven into the material, yardage materials, and suitings.

ELM CREEK WOMAN'S CLUB

The Elm Creek Woman's club, organized twenty-nine years ago for the purpose of sponsoring a public library in the town, has maintained and directed this community service since that time. In recent years, a village levy has been created to aid in financing the library, but it still receives active support from the woman's club.

In addition, the club has brought the traveling chest X-ray unit of the Tuberculosis association to Elm Creek, where more than five hundred people were examined. Gifts presented by the club members at the annual Christmas party were taken to the Mother Hull home in Kearney.

The activities of the club are directed by the following officers: Mrs. W. C. May, president; Mrs. T. S. Cummings, vice president; Mrs. M. A. Rishel, secretary; Mrs. G. B. Rich, treasurer; and Miss Clara Norris, historian.

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

There is many a game you can play, but when you are tired of things in general, and people seem dull to you, there's one that is sure to put a new aspect on your outlook.

Just imagine that you are walking into a room full of people. Your hostess reaches for your hand and, turning you toward a handsome dream, says, "Have you met Mr. Pinza?"

Esio Pinza! Wham! Butterflies flutter where no butterflies should be; your tongue freezes, and you can't think of a thing to say beyond, "How do you do?"—and that under your breath.

Four Rounds to a Game.

Be honest, now—if that's what happened, score a round for the other side. You've let one of the biggest opportunities to up your personal-impression score slip right through your hands!

But you've other chances ahead. It takes four rounds to make a game, so let's get on with it, just for the sake of a sure-fire cure for that why-isn't-my-life-more-exciting feeling.

For the next three rounds, you will need a pencil, paper and some quick thinking. Now write down the names of three famous persons you'd like to have for conversational partners at a party. Oh, you might choose General MacArthur, Jimmy Stewart, Dr. Einstein, Mme. Pandit, Bette Davis, Mrs. Roosevelt—any personalities you'd like most to meet. Pick your favorites.

Then, beside each of the three names, list three topics you could discuss intelligently that would interest both you and the personage. (The weather doesn't count.)

If it takes more than three minutes to think of three topics for any name, count that round lost. And if you lose more rounds than one poised woman should, it's your cue to get busy! You've been a bit lazy and let your interest lag on the most important things in the world—people and events. Small wonder then that you feel and sound let down lately. Try picking up the pieces of your interest this way:

Raising Your Score

For one week, make it a point to find out more about the people whose names you listed—what they are doing and why, and something about their personal lives. Watch the newspapers and magazines; consult a book or two.

Then, have another go at the game. Now you should have a half dozen likely topics to discuss with your favorite personalities, topics right at the tip of your tongue.

And most important, you won't have a trace of the doldrums left, because you've been too busy talking things over with interesting people. Here's a game of make-believe that works miracles!

JEAN LOUISE LEADLEY Bride Of Jerry Swanson

With a dossal of white brocade forming the center dossal, the chancel of Westminster Presbyterian church was appointed with lighted candelabra candles, arranged in radiating groups of seven each, and pedestals filled with white gladioli, white snapdragons, and purple stock, for the marriage of Miss Jean Louise Leadley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Leadley, to Jerry Lee Swanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Joseph Swanson of North Platte, which was an event of Saturday evening, January 27. Southern smiles, banked to form a background for the candles and the floral arrangements, also screened the wall panels of the chancel and, combined with clusters of white blossoms, ornamented the tall candles that marked the white carpeted processional aisle.

The 8:30 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. John Douglas Clyde, minister of Westminster, and the wedding music was played by Miss Josephine Waddell. As the four hundred guests assembled Miss Waddell presented a prelude of organ music including "Arabesque," Vienne; "Twilight at Fiesole," Bingham; "Harmonies du Soir," Karg-Elert, and "Carillon," Myron Roberts. Miss Waddell also accompanied Miss Jackie Orr who sang, "At Dawning," and "Because," preceding the ceremony.

Alike frocks of silk taffeta in the deep lilac tone was chosen for the maid of honor, Miss Ba Miss Barbara Wylie, and the bridesmaids, Miss Patricia Baldwin, Miss Shirley Hamilton of North Platte; Miss Jean R. Smith of Valley, and Miss Mary Ann Lindauer of Omaha. Snuggly fitted, the off-shoulder bodices were contoured at the shoulders with deep cuffs of taffeta, and replacing the length of the very brief sleeves were long mitts of taffeta in matching shade. The straight, slender skirts were complemented with a soft pouf of the taffeta at one side, beneath which was a narrow panel of folds, and minute taffeta belts encircled the small waists. Each wore a small hat, with heart-shaped brim centered with a brilliant pendant, that reflected the tone of her frock, and each carried a colonial crescent bouquet of white Amazon lilies frilled and looped with white narcissus and fleur d'amour. Small Judy Yates of Denver was the flower girl, and her frock of silk taffeta in the pink violet shade, was fashioned with a cuffed off-shoulder bodice, and a full, floor length skirt. Her flowers were purple double violets. The candles were lighted by Miss Mary Pitterman of Cleveland, O., and Miss Joan Peden of Oakland who appeared in alike frocks of taffeta in the pink violet tone, and whose hats, also in the pink violet were similar to those worn by the attendants.

Dale Langford of North Platte served Mr. Swanson, best man, and the corps of ushers included Diane Swanson of North Platte, brother of the bridegroom; Eames Irvin, Jack Johnson, Delmar Olson, all of North Platte; Dr. Dean Yates, Denver, and Dick Asmusen, Neligh.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a gown of magnolia-toned satin for her wedding. Framing the shoulders of the long, slender bodice was a complete heart of lace, encrusted with seed pearls, that formed a stand-up contour at the back and deepened into a low décolletage, filled in with shadow folds of tulle, and caught with an ornament of brilliants. Self-covered buttons closed the gown at the back and were repeated on the close fitting sleeves. The soft folds of the full skirt swirled into a long and exceedingly wide train. Her train-length veil of silk illusion was held to the head with a small satin hat fashioned with a rolled, heart-shaped brim patterned with hseed pearls and centered with a pearl pendant. She carried a colonial crescent bouquet of white phalaenopsis orchids.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the main dining room of the University club. The circular stairway, leading from the foyer, was festooned with southern smilax and small clusters of white blossoms, and at the foot of the stairs stood a tall pedestal epergne filled with stock in the white and lilac shades, and lilac candles. The receiving line formed before a background of southern smilax, arrangements of white and lilac stocks, and lighted candles in seven-branched candelabra. The refreshment table placed before the fireplace screened with smilax and flowers, was arranged with a cloth of lilac taffeta skirted with lilac-toned ribbon, caught with sprays of white Amazon lilies, bordered with the lilies. At either end of the table were five-branched silver candelabra shades, arranged in graduated shade, in the taffeta and illusion was reflected in the appointments of the cake and guest book tables. Assisting at the reception were Mrs. John Booth, jr., Kansas City; Mrs. H. E. Van Burg, Mrs. Vernon Thompson, Mrs. E. H. French, Mrs. H. R. Turner, Mrs. Glenn Baldwin, Mrs. John A. Wylie, Mrs. Ralph Wagoner, jr., Bradshaw; Mrs. T. F. Armstrong, Omaha; Mrs. Paul Ely, North Platte; Miss Nancy Weir, Miss Patricia Waldman, Miss Juanita Rediger, Miss Doris Carlson, Miss Martha Hamilton, Miss Jo Ann Walters, Miss Jo Anne Pyle, Miss Marylou Luther, Miss Barbara Young, Miss Margery Van Pelt, Miss Roberta Nielson, Miss Miriam Hicks, Miss Joan Finney, Miss Virginia Hill.

For the honeymoon trip to Colorado Springs and Arizona, Mrs. Swanson wore a costume suit of beige wool, with beige velvet ascot and pockets, both caught with brilliant ornaments. Her coat, in the burnt sugar tone, was lined with beige fur. She completed her ensemble with accessories in the burnt sugar cast, and her going-away corsage was fashioned of brown orchids. Mr. Swanson and his bride will return to North Platte where they will reside until Mr. Swanson is called into the service.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Swanson attended the University of Nebraska where the bride is a member of Gamma Phi Beta sorority, and Mr. Swanson is a member of Delta Upsilon fraternity.

WINTER TAKES NO HOLIDAY

THE WEATHER MAN ISN'T overly optimistic about what's in atmospheric circles this morning—But, as grandmother always said, "there's many a slip 'twixt the cup and the lip"—so perhaps things won't turn out too badly—Anyway, we've been listening to conversation about top-soil and sub-soil, and it seems that the top-soil could use a bit of moisture—Maybe that is why the WM ordered snow flurries.

BUT ENOUGH OF WEATHER and soil and all non-social matters—and on with the morning's work—
Heard something interesting about Mrs. Jack Rees of New York City—the former Joan Martz, Alpha Phi at the University of Nebraska. Mrs. Rees, so we were told, is working very hard as associate editor of the "Photography Workshop" magazine, probably well known to all camera addicts—

CALLED THE ROLL on travelers and discovered that more of the populace were leaving soon for here and there—

Dr. and Mrs. Horace V. Munger, for instance, and their son, Kenneth, have plans for Mexico City—and then on to the coast for some deep sea fishing. Accompanying Dr. and Mrs. Munger on their trip will be Mrs. Munger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Boul of Randolph.

BUT ENOUGH OF WEATHER chapter to be added to the above—In Mexico City, and BDFS (before deep sea fishing) the travelers will be joined by Dr. and Mrs. John C. Thompson who also have a hankering after marine and its kin and near kin.

THEN WE HEARD THAT Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Murrell and their two daughters, Nancy and Mollie, already had left for Las Vegas, Nev., after which they will go to Arizona for an extended holiday.

WHEN NEXT FRIDAY ROLLS around Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Askey will be on their way to Chicago where Dr. Askey will attend a mid-winter dental meeting.

ALL THIS CHATTER of traveling brings to mind the Wiedmans—Dr. and Mrs. E. V., who returned home on Sunday from Denver.

AND OF COURSE MENTION of the week-end brings to mind other activities—the week-end jaunt to Omaha by the Mowbrays—Mr. and Mrs. William and Margot—Mr. Mowbray, we hear, attended a meeting in Omaha, and the family spent the week-end as the house guests of Mrs. Mowbray's mother, Mrs. C. P. Newell.

UNDERSTAND THAT Mrs. Herbert E. Goch has decided to stay in La Jolla, Cal., until around March 1—but plans to return home then.

SKIPPED BACK SEVERAL days to the party for which Miss Mary Whitmore was hostess at her home a week ago Sunday—The party was ostensibly for the members of Miss Whitmore's Alpha Chi Omega pledge class—but REALLY was to honor Miss Charmaine Marqueson of Mitchell, S. D., who is to be married soon, and Miss Connie Nye of Ogallala, who has transferred from Nebraska to the University of Colorado.

BACK TO THE WEEK-END—and the dinner for which Dr. and Mrs. Maynard Wood were hostess at their home on Saturday evening. Sixteen guests were invited for the dinner and an informal evening.

TODAY IS THE DAY THAT the Copper Kettle members meet at the home of Mrs. Arnett Folsom, with Mrs. A. R. Edmiston and Mrs. Folsom as hostesses.

ALL OF THOSE INTERESTING gift-wrapped packages shown in the picture above, soon will be on their way to Tokyo, addressed to a bride-to-be, Miss Alice Wing, whose marriage to Albert E. VandenBosch will take place soon.

On Friday evening Mrs. Fred R. Likes, Mrs. W. A. Gorman, Mrs. C. F. Keech, Mrs. Garland Shields and Mrs. J. H. Critchfield were hostesses to forty-eight guests at a miscellaneous shower held in the Park Valley club room, 815 North Cotner.

Giving as her daughter's proxy in the matter of gift unwrapping was Mrs. E. A. Wing who, as you can see, was surrounded by beautiful gifts.

Miss Margaret Cheuvront, Mrs. Robert V. Black, Mrs. Ervin Roelofs, Mrs. David Wing, sister-in-law of the bride-elect; Mrs. Watson Coleman and Mrs. Jack Pieper.

North Bumps Bunnies For Second Place Rating

Rockets Hang Onto Top Spot; Links Ranked No. 6

BY WAYNE PANTER
(Star Sports Staff Member)

THE state prep class A cage race continued on its erratic way last week with upsets the rule rather than the exception. The Star's rating today contains no ties and no compromises. One will get you five that they'll switch themselves around within the next seven days, regardless of how they're rated today.

Still in first place is Northeast. The Rockets kept their post-Omaha North record clean by taking a rough and rugged tussle—one that belied the number of fouls called—from Falls City, 28-25.

Last week's second-place club, Omaha Benson, fell into the clutches of Omaha North and wound up on the short end of a 35-32 count to relinquish their place to their victors. The Vikes advanced out of a tie with Omaha Central for fourth and fifth while the Bunnies drop to third.

COWBOYS SLIP

Boys Town, idle since earning a third-place berth last week, slips to fourth as the Vikes advance.

North Platte, tied with Lincoln for sixth and seventh last week, gets a fifth-place nod this week despite a tight 49-47 win over seemingly unpredictable McCook. The Bulldogs also measured Grand Island, ninth rated last week, 54-48.

In sixth place is Lincoln high, which got by Norfolk by the narrowest of overtime margins, 52-51. The Links' triumphs over Omaha Tech and Omaha South keep them ahead—for the time being, at least—of the two Gate City clubs.

At seventh and eighth are the Maroons and Packers. Tech clicked in impressive fashion against Creighton Prep, last week's No. eight team, 58-41, and also turned in wins over Missouri Valley conference foes Sioux City Central and Sioux City East, 55-46 and 69-57, respectively.

PACKERS UP

South, meanwhile, hit the comeback trail with a substantial

50-39 win over Omaha Central, which skidded out of a fourth-fifth tie last week back into tenth, where it had been in the first two listings.

Continuing at ninth place is Grand Island, which dropped a pair this week, 42-41 to Fremont and to the Platters.

Currently the best bet to shove its way into the elite tier is Fremont, boasting a string of five straight wins since falling before Northeast, 65-36.

McCook's Bison also are renewing a bid for admission. They dropped Lexington, 66-29, and gave North Platte a battle before losing, 49-47.

The Prep Parade

By WAYNE PANTER

IN NINE YEARS of basketball competition against Lincoln involving 18 games, Northeast has come off second best. The Links, guided since 1942 by Lyle Weyand, have 11 wins to their credit.

The Rockets, under the tutelage of five different mentors, in winning seven games, have had a little better luck in past-season tourney games than they've had against the Red and Black in regularly scheduled contests.

They've been victorious in four of nine tournament outings.

In nine regular-season games, the Links hold only a four-point margin in total scoring—263-259. In tournament competition, the pendulum in this department swings further toward the J street gang. They've totaled 271 against the Rockets' 243.

Twice the Links have run a string of consecutive victories to five only to have it broken. The Rockets, on the other hand, have never been able to accumulate more than three in a row. They'll be striving to equal that mark tomorrow night.

The first game, in 1942, saw the brand-new Rocket aggregation under Coach Cliff Bosley zoom to a 26-17 win. Eddie "Rag Arm" Wilson paced the winners with eight points, while Ed Hall and Allan Bloom had five apiece for the Red and Black.

ANOTHER and yet another meeting was in store for the two clubs that year. In the regional tourney, the Links, who in the earlier encounter had been without the services of ace Center Don McArthur, rallied behind his leadership to thump the Rockets, 44-24. Both clubs passed their tests in the state tournament and met again in the finals. The Rockets made a tight game of it, but wound up losers, 35-27.

In 1943 McArthur led his mates with 14 points as they swept their third straight from the Black and White, 34-21. Cliff Squires' eight points were high for the Bosley gang. A few weeks later the Links were forced to the limit to get a 34-33 decision over the Rockets in the regionals.

The Weyandmen copped a fifth win in 1944, 29-23. The Rockets, trailing 25-12 at halftime, blanked the Links in the third quarter but never quite were able to close the gap. Scoring honors were split three ways, with Joe "Dude" Laub of Northeast and Gayle Leback and Hudkins of Lincoln getting eight apiece. The encounter in the regionals that year marked the end of the Link string, as the Rockets annexed a 27-24 win.

Lawrence J. Tepley took over the Rocket reins in 1945 as the Links set about building a new string of wins. The regularly scheduled game that year turned out to be a defensive battle, with Lincoln getting a 27-23 edge. The Rockets Babe Gillespie led all scorers with nine counters; Leback and Boney Hoffman garnered eight apiece for the winners. In the regionals that year the Links rolled up a 31-20 margin.

Came 1946 and Gridmaster Bun Galloway to guide Northeast cage fortunes. Seventy-five hundred fans saw the Links utilize a pressing man-to-man defense to grab off a 26-22 win. The chilly Rockets hit but four of 38 field goal attempts and 14 of 27 charity tosses as Fritz Davis led all scorers with 10 points. Again the Links triumphed in the regionals, this time 33-25.

Lincoln won a fifth straight in 1947 from Coach Dawson "Dawdy" Hawkins' club, 45-44, in the highest scoring contest to date. Davis had 15 points for the Rockets while Bob Pierce and Dick Means got 12 apiece for the Links as they chopped Northeast's 10-game winning streak. The regional that year was another story as the Rockets tumbled to a 25-20 win.

NORTHEAST came out on top in the next meeting, in 1948, with a fourth-quarter rally which spilled the Links, 30-22. Diminutive Dick Allen had nine for the Rockets while Joe Good's eight were tops for the Red and Black. The Hawkinsmen garnered the regional crown that year by the lesser margin of 33-29.

In 1949, Hawkins' last year at Northeast and one which saw the Rockets take their first state title, Lincoln tripped the Black and White, 30-29, in the first overtime game of the series. Forty-three fouls were called in the rough game, which saw Paul Fredstrom annex high-point honors with 12 while Joe Good turned in 11, one of which was the winning free throw.

The Rockets came back to win the regional title for the third straight year by tipping the Weyandmen, 29-21, and in 1950, coached by Eddie Johnson, carried off the spoils, 41-33. The Links kept Fredstrom sewed up during the first half and maintained a lead until late in the third period. Big Paul's marksmanship was beginning to pay off, however, and once the tide had turned against the underdogs they were never able to get back. Fredstrom's 16 points were high, followed by Larry Knee's 12 for Lincoln.

It was the last meeting of the two clubs as Falls City bumped the Links in the first round of the regionals, won by the Rockets, along with a second consecutive state championship.

This year? Will the Rockets move a step nearer the evening of the series? Or will the Links begin laying the foundations for a new win string? One thing is certain—just about anything can happen. All the way from tight defense through torrid offense and from 20-points margins down to single-point overtime decisions.

Team Play Reason For Prosperity

...Stone Helps

(Special to The Star)

MANHATTAN, Kas.—The reason for the success of the Kansas State basketball team this season can be found in the well balanced, smooth-operating personnel. Team play is the cause of victory as Coach Jack Gardner will tell you.

Every team needs a spark plug and the curly haired court general has many reasons to be proud of his spark plug, Senior forward Jack Stone.

KEEPS PACE

Stone is a deadeye any where near the keyhole circle. A terrific rebounder and a deadshot he has provided the fire for the Wildcats.

Against Minnesota in the finals of the pre-season tourney at Kansas City, the Navy vet drew the unenviable task of guarding All-American Whitehead Skoog. With a fading one handed shot, that is almost impossible to guard, Skoog made 21 points. Stone countered with 20 to keep even with the All-American.

Coach Gardner says, "Jack is now playing the brand of ball I've felt all along he could play—and the type he has continually shown in practice."

FAMILY MAN

This 6-3, forward is one of the few round ball stars in the Midwest with a family. He has a very pretty wife, Betty, and two lovely blonde daughters, Connie, 4, and Carol 3.

At 24, the Los Angeles Navy veteran is the oldest player on the squad, the only World War II veteran and the only married man.

The past three years Stone has been either a regular forward or center. He gained all-city honors as a high school senior for his stellar play with University High School in Los Angeles.

CHAMP MAY LOSE

(Special to The Star)

MEAD, Neb.—Valparaiso, Yutan, Weston and Ceresco have been seeded in the Saunders County Conference basketball tourney here February 5-9.

Defending champion Mead will have to get hot to retain its title. Pairings:

Valparaiso vs. Prague; Luther (Wahoo) vs. Cedar Bluffs; winner plays Yutan; Weston vs. Mead; Milmo vs. Ceresco.

LAST WEEK'S TILTS CLOSE

Results of last week's engagements show that Lincoln prep teams were victorious in three of four games.

The only local club to feel the sting of defeat was College View. They were edged by Plattsmouth, 40-36, in the EN7 tourney.

Friday night Cathedral, Lincoln and Northeast won very close games.

The Rockets had a tough time with Falls City, but managed to come thru with a ragged 23-25 win.

Lincoln required an overtime period to down Norfolk, 52-51.

Dean Sloan powered the Links to victory with his tying goal in the regulation time and his free throw in the overtime period.

Cathedral was the third capital city club to meet rugged opposition. They won a close 41-39 game from Syracuse.

GOLFER LEVYS OWN FINE

PHOENIX, Ariz. — (AP) — Golfer Clayton Heafner of Charlotte, N. C., fined himself $25 Friday for talking out of turn at the Lakewood Park Open tournament at Long Beach, Calif., last Monday.

Heafner, a member of the PGA tournament committee, formally recommended to the group that he be disciplined for his "unnecessary remarks" made at Long Beach when he suddenly picked up in the final round.

The big southerner, with a chance of getting into the top money, quit the field with a few choice remarks aimed at the gallery, which he thought was discourteous if not unmarshalled.

Doane Five Wesleyan's Next Foe

... Here Wednesday

There's no rest for the wicked, the old saying goes. Nor will there be any this week for Irv Peterson's Nebraska Wesleyan University cage forces.

Fresh on the heels of a pair of toughies with Peru and Kearney Friday and Saturday, the Plainsmen will open drills Monday for a Wednesday night meeting with Doane college on the coliseum maples and a Saturday night invasion by York college at the same site.

A lack-lustre crew against Newt Kyle's potent Bobcats at Peru, the Plainsmen were mildly impressive as they galloped past Will Morris' Antelopes—a team which had beaten them by 10 points in an earlier engagement.

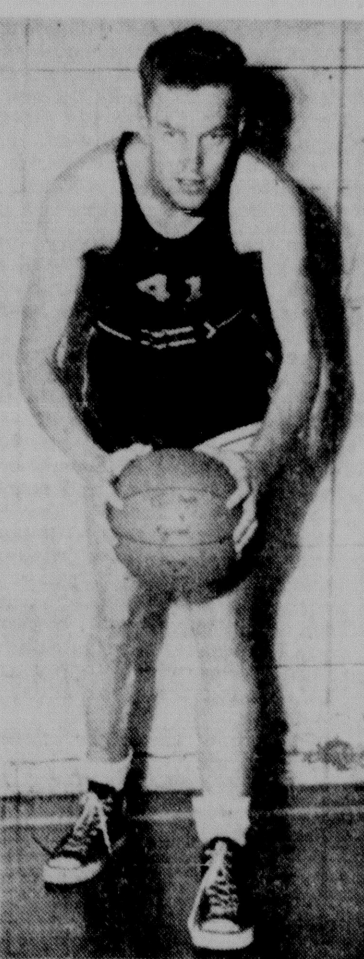

Peterson had special words of praise for lanky Tom Waring, his fast improving front line performer who slipped through the leaky Antelope defense for nine two-pointers, six of them in the second half.

It was Waring's fine assist to the Methodists' high scoring pivot, Bob Gaston, which gave the Methodists the steam to garner their second Nebraska College Conference victory in five starts.

Peterson said he will schedule a drill at the coliseum for Monday and will taper off with a light workout in the condemned Wesleyan gym Tuesday afternoon.

It will be the first meeting this year between the Plainsmen and Jim Borsheim's Doane Tigers who have now won four in a row after a slow start.

The Wesleyans romped over York 70-52 earlier this year with Gaston's 32-point effort showing the way.

Williams In Title Tuneup

NEW YORK—(AP) — Lightweight champion Ike Williams and Willie Pep, the former featherweight king, engage in tuneup fights this week in preparation for soon due title contests.

Williams, who probably will defend his crown against Art Aragon in March, faces Cic Cardell, a fast-rising young welterweight from Hartford, in a non-title ten in Detroit Wednesday night. This bout will be broadcast and telecast by C.B.S.

Pep, who meets featherweight champion Sandy Saddler Feb. 23 in the fourth bout of a sizzling series, takes on Tommy Baker in a ten rounder at Hartford Tuesday night. It will be Willie's first outing since he dislocated his left shoulder and lost to Saddler in Yankee Stadium last September.

OHIOWA BEATEN

(Special to The Star)

SHICKLEY, Neb.—Ohiowa is no longer in the ranks of the undefeated. A 69-65, win by Ong gave the winners the right to meet Milligan in the Southern Nebraska Eight Tourney.

The score was tied at the half 34-34. Gordon Benson paced Ong with 26 points and the losers were led by Gayle Johnson with 22.

CODY LOSES

(Special to The Star)

MERRIMAN, Neb.—Led with 22 points by Vrba, Crookston opened the Cherry County basketball tourney with a 29-23 win over Cody. Larson got 16 for Cody.

Columbia Has Clean Slate

All Other NCAA Tournament Likelies Have Been Beaten

NEW YORK—(AP)—Seven teams—Kentucky, Oklahoma A. M., Indiana, Columbia, North Carolina State, Arizona and Brigham Young—look like sure-fire bets for the NCAA basketball tournament.

Columbia, however, is the only one that possibly can get there without a defeat.

One of the two remaining spotless records in college basketball was fractured Saturday night when California broke Long Island University's 16-game winning streak, 69-67, at San Francisco's Cox Palace.

This left the Ivy League's Columbia with the only perfect mark among major quintets—12 in a row this year and 21 straight over a two-year period. The Lions don't put this string on the line again until Feb. 6 when they play Harvard.

INTEREST VEEERS.

Now that practically all the cage powers have lost at least once—and, in some cases, two or three times—interest has veered from the individual team records to the big question: Who's going to make the tournament?

The National Collegiate Athletic Association has decided this year to give stock bids to the champions of ten major conferences and to pick six other teams from random.

Kentucky, Oklahoma A. M., N. C. State, Indiana, Arizona and Brigham Young have taken a whip hand in their respective leagues and can almost start making traveling plans for the three sectional NCAA playoffs.

Little Edged By Vorsham

Phoenix, Ariz.—(AP)—Lew Vorsham, who hadn't won an important golf title since 1947, the year he was U. S. Open champion, Sunday captured the $10,000 Phoenix Open title with a 272 for the 72 holes.

The winner calmly sank an eight-foot putt on the final hole for a one-under par 70 Sunday in a single stroke edge over Lawson Little, former amateur and professional champion.

Little lost his chance to tie for the title when he missed a four-footer on the 18th green to post a 68 for a 273 total.

Germans Defeat U.S. Tandem Bobbed Team

L'ALPE D'HUEZ, France—(AP)—The United States' bid for the world two-man bobsled championship fell short Sunday and the crown went to the derring-do German pair—Andreas Ostler and Rens Nibbel.
